Celebrating the Olive!

Fifth Annual Butte County Olive Festival
Saturday, June 20- 10:00 am to 2:00 pm
at the Ehmann Home. "The House that Olives Built" 1480 Lincoln Street.
(Corner of Lincoln and Robinson in Historic Downtown Oroville)

This is an outdoor event, held in the parking lot next to the Ehmann Home. What better place to have an Olive Festival but at the home of the woman, Freda Ehmann, "The House that Olives Built", and who is considered the Mother of the California Ripe Olive. She also started the Canning Industry of the Olive. Tours will be given of this 104 year old home. (Admission is by donation.)

But the Admission to the Outdoor Festival, the Butte County Olive Festival is FREE!

You will be welcomed by young people from the Boys and Girls Club of Oroville who will sell you tickets for the many drawings. And you will be lured by the music coming from Oroville's own "Feather River Gypsies"

Have fun tasting the Olive and Olive Oils from the many vendors, which is FREE. The vendor's olives can be purchased also. Each vendor has a gift basket that you can have a chance to win.

Enjoy beer tasting from Feather Falls Casino and Brewery in the Ehmann's flowered courtyard. It tastes mighty good on a hot day! ($1.00) We will also have lemonade. ($1.00)

Again there will be a tent featuring the Ehmann Gift Shop with lots of Olive Gift items, including Olive Bread.

Come to the smell of pop corn and enjoy ice cream drizzled with tasty live oil. (Both $1.00)

Spend time deciding what you would like to bid on the many gifts at the Silent Auction.

Lunch will be served from 11-1, a plate of 5 things for $5.00. Everything made with olives.

This year, new features have been added to the Olive Festival: A FREE Art Show, Antique vendors, Some 1914 Model T's, and a Children's Craft Activity.

A door prize is being offered of a dinner for two and a one night's stay at the Feather Falls Casino and Lodge.

A Special attraction added to kick off the 5th Annual Olive Festival

Gala in the Garden
Friday night, Kick off to the Butte County Olive Festival
June 18, 6-9p.m.
Victorian Rose, 429 B Street,
Biggs

A fun evening dining in a lovely Garden. Dinner includes hors d'oeuvres, the main course and sides, beverages, and dessert. The Marks, a chamber group, will be providing music. There will also be a raffle/silent auction.

Tickets: $50 per person; $80 per couple; or $300 per table of 8. Reservations deadline is June 8th and is limited to 80 people. For more information call Dorothy (530) 846-0421 or (530) 846-0421

Bolt's Antique Tool Museum Seeks Docent Helpers

Bud & Laila Bolt, long-time Oroville residents, started a tool collection in 1957 and found a lasting home when the City of Oroville provided the permanent museum in 2006 to display the collection. This one-of-a-kind museum has been open to the public seven days a week and continues to be staffed by Mr. & Mrs. Bolt, who are now in their eighties, and a dedicated staff of museum docents. The Bolt's are seeking additional docent helpers to keep the museum going. If you can spare a few hours a week, or month, consider spending them at this fun and exciting place. As the Bolt's say, "No experience needed, we will happily train and share our knowledge with you."

Bolt's, proudly showcases a wide variety of tools including those used by blacksmiths, railroads, mechanics, plumbers, farmers, and just about any trade that had the need of a wrench. The tools, some dating back to the 1820's, which are displayed in attractive cases and include many historical pictures depicting the use of the tools. A barbed wire display, special monthly exhibits, a lecture series, and a kitchen galley compliment the tool collection.

The museum continues to grow its tool collection which currently has over 12,000 items for visitors to see. A gift shop features a creative line of greeting cards, mugs, shirts, and other tinkering toys. For additional information about the museum visit www.boltsantiquetools.com or call (530) 538-2401, or better yet, just drop by for a visit. The museum is open Monday through Saturday, 10:00 A.M. to 3:45 P.M. and 11:45 A.M. to 3:45 P.M. on Sunday.

California's Top 10 Food & Drink Trends

From sleek new speakeasies coming out from their shadowy history to the elevation of tacos beyond street food status, California is cooking-up a whole slew of genre-bending food and cocktail trends.

Speakeasies Emerge from the Shadows

During Prohibition, California was awash in illicit underground bars and speakeasies, especially in cities like Los Angeles and San Francisco with their access to ports. Today, a new breed of speakeasy is on tap: hip, highly-stylized venues that pay homage to past eras but add a decidedly modern twist with creative interiors and inspired cocktails. Great examples include LA's Eighties-themed Break Room 86 (featuring a wicked cool entrance behind a vending machine) and San Francisco's The Wilson Bar, a speakeasy within a speakeasy that riffs on a private eye's office circa 1930s.

Loco for Locavore

California was one of the earliest adopters of the local food movement. The term "locavore" was coined here and local has long been on the menu in the Golden State. California is once again the incubator of the latest innovation in the locavore movement - this time it's making local ingredients and wholesome foods accessible at fast food prices to serve a wider community. Loco'l is a groundbreaking collaboration between two of California's most revered and renowned chefs, Roy Choi and Daniel Patterson. Their respective pioneering influences range from the guerrilla food truck movement (Choi) to haute, hyper local Californian cuisine (Patterson). The first two restaurants in their Loco'l chain are set to open in San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Brewtails on Tap

Free-spirited California is at the forefront of mixing things up on the cocktail scene with malty mash-ups called brewtails. The genre-bending quaffs mix quality craft beers with cocktail ingredients to produce striking new libations with names like the Tijuana Matinee (mezcal, Cointreau, orange, Almanac Golden Gate Sour Wheat beer) served up by San Francisco's Barrelhead Brewhouse.

IPA's on A Roll

California is a craft beer powerhouse always refining and reinventing the category with new interpretations. Lately, hoppy IPAs have surged in popularity and the state's top brewers are right in step, producing award-winners like Racer 5 IPA crafted by the Napa region's Bear Republic Brewing and San Diego trophy beer Sculpin India Pale Ale, brewed by Ballast Point.

California-Native Spirits Soar

Home to more craft distilleries than anywhere else in the country, it's only natural that California should be a hot-bed of artisanal spirits makers. Increasingly, the state's agricultural bounty is being transformed into inventive, spirited expressions like the newly launched California Citrus vodka infused with San Joaquin Valley citrus and bergamot made by Alameda-based St. George Spirits. Organic California Red Winter wheat is used to produce the craft gin now being distilled by Sebastopol-based Spirit Works Distillery, which also adds California botanicals into a traditional Old World recipe.

Gastropubs Elevate

Pubs used to be famous for lackluster "pub grub." That's all changed in California with a new wave of gastropubs that mix top quality brews with elevated fare you would expect to find at a top-shelf restaurant. Case in point, Oceanside's Flying Pig, where menu items like parmesan truffle fries are paired with some of San Diego county's top craft beers. Near Sacramento, Boneshaker Public House in Rocklin is loved by locals for platings like chicken pesto flatbread and the Blind Pig mac and cheese (add bacon, bratwurst and pulled pork). It's all paired with a prodigious rotating list of tap craft beers primarily from California.

Runaway Ramen

Ramen, that tasty, casual and healthy category of quality fast-food style noodles imported from Japan has found a huge fan-base here in California and the result is a delicious selection of ramen shops statewide. LA's westside Japanese enclave of Little Osaka is where you'll find Tsujita LA, serving ramen, tasty dipping sauces and sashimi. Oakland's Ramen Shop is where to savor Californian twists like veggie shoyu Meyer lemon ramen paired with an impressive whiskey and bourbon list.

Sustainable Seafood

Declining fish populations globally have resulted in decisive action by Californians involved in the food industry's entire chain from fishermen to restaurateurs. Many menus are deliberately devoid of threatened species and offer planet-friendly alternatives instead. A prime example includes Santa Monica-based Border Grill restaurants, which only uses seafood approved by the Monterey Bay Aquarium's Seafood Watch program. The renowned California aquarium acts as a global watchdog, monitoring fish populations for the industry and consumers alike. The Seafood Watch program is also available as a downloadable app.

Tacos on Top

fornia's most loved and prevalent foods. Fish tacos by the beach are a winning Californian combo, be it San Diego's Taco Surf Taco Shop in Pacific Beach or Ruddell's Smokehouse in the tiny Central Coast town of Cayucos. The long legacy of Mexican history and culture here paired with the wide availability of tacos of all types – from food trucks to upscale iterations served at fine restaurants like LA's Bar Ama – signal that tacos have made it big with new respect and status. Case in point: for three years running now, the Tacolandia festival, a taco-palooza which showcases an international field of taco pros, has sold out its venue at LA's historic Olvera Street location.

Decadently Healthy Desserts

In California, dessert artisans have figured out a way you can have your cake and eat it, too. The current trend is decadence with a dollop of healthy ingredients, such as beets, coconut meat and dates. Examples abound, from the gluten-free smores cheesecake served at Sinners and Saints Desserts in Venice and the baklava made with pomegranate molasses, bee pollen, pistachio, mint and sumac offered at Santa Barbara's Mesa Verde restaurant.

Top Time-Saving Tips for Household Chores

(StatePoint) On average, people spend more than two hours daily on such household activities as cleaning and organizing, according to the 2013 American Time Use Survey by the Bureau of Labor and Statistics. But there's no need to spend the bulk of precious free time achieving a spotless home.

Here are a few tips for making once tedious chores easy and effective.

Clean Kitchen

The kitchen often attracts the most mess. However, cleaning as you go can keep it looking spick and span.

Fill your sink with hot soapy water when you start dinner. Place used pots, pans and dishes in the filled sink to soak while you eat. Never give sauces, oils or spices a chance to sit around -- wipe up spills immediately.

Cleaning a dirty oven is easy when you line the bottom with a nonstick oven liner. Simply wipe the liner with a paper towel, place it in the dishwasher and reuse -- no additional scrubbing required.

Bacteria can feed on food put down the drain and on what's left on dishes, according to a study conducted by Dr. Charles Gerba, a.k.a. "Dr. Germ." Your dirty kitchen sink has more bacteria than your toilet seat and is actually the prime place for E. coli to live and grow. To sanitize your garbage disposal, pour one half cup of baking soda down the drain followed by one cup of white vinegar. Place the stopper in the sink and allow the solution to work its magic for a few minutes. Rinse with boiling water.

Spotless Bathroom

A regular vanity wipe down is a must, but an additional way to keep these areas looking spotless is with the right fixtures. Some faucets now feature Microban antimicrobial protection built into the faucet finish, a technology that helps inhibit the growth of stain- and odor-causing bacteria, mold and mildew. For example, the new Moen Vale collection, available at The Home Depot, features Microban as well as Spot Resist finish, which helps resist fingerprints and water spots to maintain a brilliant finish.

If you have a cloth shower curtain, throw it in the laundry, then hang it outside to dry. Bathroom humidity can make fabrics look limp quickly, so swap out towels frequently for a fluffy and fresh look.

De-Cluttered Living Spaces

According to a recent survey, 28 percent of consumers said they only straighten up a few times each week. The survey, conducted by Moen, also found that most homeowners don't strive for a perfectly organized home; but they would if there was more time available to devote to organizing.

To find more time, conduct a five-minute sweep of the house nightly before bed, taking a laundry basket with you. Place anything in the basket that doesn't belong in that particular room, and then put the basket contents back in their proper place.

By regularly taking a few moments out of your week to clean and organize, you can easily have a fresh feeling home with minimal elbow grease required.

Lost Dog
My Doc Russell jumped out the window of my husbands 1999 Chevy Silverado 4x4 on 5-27-15 at 7:30 am to 7:45 am on the hill above the fish hatchery on table mountain blvd. A white car stopped with it's flashers on and Ruben stopped the truck on top the hill and ran back down to get her but she was gone and so was the white car. We do not think she was hurt badly but not sure. She is 3 months old white with a brown patch around her left eye her right eye looks smaller because she has white eye lashes on that eye. she had a red color on she is very short and weights about 8 lbs.

Spotlight

by: Morgan Williams

As it's that time of the year again, to start of this month's Spotlight, a good place to begin would be to look at graduations. A time that often brings about both trepidation, as well as excitement. Trepidation at what may lie ahead and what could potentially go wrong but on the positive side, the excitement that is inevitably felt when considering the potential for what can go good in the end. To exit one phase of life and to take the lessons learned from that phase and use them moving forward and, at least hopefully, to be able to continue to learn more and be able to grow in the process. This is something that faces many of this year's graduates, whether from the high school or college levels. Differing circumstances are sure to abound between those moving to college and those exiting the walls of higher academia but in the end, the connection between the two is the ability to find satisfaction, at least in some level, on what has been achieved.

In terms of commencement ceremonies to take place during the month of June, here are the following schedules: the Las Plumas High School Class of 2015 graduation ceremony is set to take place on Friday, June 5th from 8:15-10:15pm at Harrison Stadium here in town. On Thursday June 4th, the tigers will be releasing a new set of grown cats in the world, as Oroville High School's commencement ceremony is set to take place at Harrison as well from 8:15-10:15pm. To cap off the remaining commencement ceremonies, Oroville Adult Education will hold their ceremony on Tuesday June 2nd and Prospect High School's ceremony that is to be held on Wednesday June 3rd. For more information on any of these ceremonies, head to www.ouhsd.org.

Going back to the 'business' of looking at local businesses in the area, here's a couple to consider. The first being Glow Tanning. Many people enjoy the appearance of nice, golden skin and besides heading to the river or lake to catch some rays; it can also be nice to hit the local tanning salon to see what they have to offer. The staff at Glow are nice and friendly and worth the time to go check out what they have to offer. So, go check them out at 2556 Olive Highway here in Oroville, or give them a call at 530-533-1730. The next business option to look at would be John's Tire & Brake. Almost everyone at one point or another has come to need the repair abilities of those trained to work on cars, or have needed to have a tire changed and/or pressure checked. With all of the options available in town, John's is a good place to check out. Next time you need your brakes checked and/or a tire(s) looked at, go check them out at 2079 W. Lincoln Street, or call them at 530-282-

How to Pick a New Door for Your Home

(StatePoint) With so many choices abounding in home improvement stores and online, how do you know which is the right choice for you when selecting a new entry door for your home?

These days, homeowners will likely be steered toward fiberglass or steel. While traditional wood is beautiful, newer materials are lower maintenance, and provide more durability, security and energy efficiency.

When various factors are considered, here's how each stacks up:

Beauty

Fiberglass most closely mimics the defined grain of authentic wood doors and comes in a number of textures like oak, cherry, mahogany and fir, as well as a variety of stain and paint colors. Options include decorative door glass and sidelites to improve curb appeal.

Steel entry doors are available in smooth or wood grain textures in multiple stains and paint finishes, and come in a variety of styles, including some with glass.

Durability

Unlike wood doors, fiberglass doors do not shrink, warp, split, crack or delaminate, making them ideal for harsh or humid climates. Because they last so long, many come with long warranties. For instance, ProVia doors come with a Lifetime Limited Warranty that guarantees doors through the entirety of the ownership of the home by the door purchaser, plus one subsequent homeowner.

Steel doors, particularly those made of 20-gauge steel like ProVia's Legacy Steel line, won't crack or warp and are the most durable on the market.

Maintenance

Fiberglass offers the lowest maintenance, resisting denting and scratching, and can be cleaned with mild soap and water.

Although generally low maintenance, if scratched through the galvanization layer, steel doors can rust if not properly primed and painted. Dents and dings can be pulled and puttied with an auto-body repair kit.

Security

The solid construction of fiberglass entry doors provides significant security over wood doors. However, if you're particularly concerned with home security, the strength of steel entry doors offer the best solution.

Energy Efficiency

Both fiberglass and steel door systems are engineered to be highly energy efficient. For example, the polyurethane core, Q-Lon weatherstripping and ComforTech Warm Edge Glazing System in ProVia entry door systems work together to keep cold out in winter and heat out in summer.

Most of their doors are ENERGY STAR certified. In fact, the company is the only door manufacturer to have ever received any ENERGY STAR award for door manufacturing, winning the prestigious ENERGY STAR Partner of the Year award for Door Manufacturing four times and the ENERGY STAR Sustained Excellence award four times.

Cost

Fiberglass doors can be comparable in cost to wood doors, depending on the model, glass options and hardware selected. However, fiberglass is a better financial bet in the long-term, offering longer durability and less maintenance.

While total cost can vary widely depending on style and options chosen, steel entry doors typically cost less than fiberglass, offering significant long-term value.

Before buying, consider your priorities -- whether its beauty, endurance or energy efficiency, opt for a door that best fits your needs.

Large Retreat on Almost 50 acres. Includes 2 parcels 2 homes Large camp house, cabins, barns and areans, bath houses, shop, summer pond with valley/Buttes view. $650,000.

We just found a gem of a home situated on a fenced 0.56 of an acre lot in the Oroville City limits. This spacious 2284 Sq ft home has 3 nice sized bedrooms and 2 full bathrooms. The Kitchen with its extensive counters and cabinets opens into the family room. Off the Kitchen is a large laundry area with sink and room for a freezer as well. There is ample room between the Living room and family room to enjoy get togethers with family and friends. To the side of the living room is an additional room currently used as Dining room. This room could be used as a study etc. as there is plenty of room in family room off of the kitchen to have a dining table. Off Street parking is not a problem with the long driveway and detached garage. You will also find a large storage shed perfect for all those garden tools and storage needs... must see to appreciate. $238,000
