Butte Humane Society Invites Community Members To Supper Club

Mama Celeste's Pizzeria Supports Animals by Hosting Supper Club on November 6th

Butte Humane Society (BHS) is calling all foodies and animal lovers! November's Supper Club will be held on November 6th at Mama Celeste's Pizzeria, located at 1008 W Sacramento Ave during the hours of 7:00-10:00 pm. Mama Celeste's Pizzeria will donate 15% of all purchases made that night to Butte Humane Society. Please visit www.mamacelestespizzeria.com to view their complete menu.

The Butte Humane Society Supper Club is held every month at local restaurants. Each restaurant has generously pledged to donate a percentage of dinner sales made during Supper Club to Butte Humane Society. Attend Supper Club each month and enjoy a delicious dinner with likeminded individuals, all while supporting local businesses and the homeless animals in the community. No need to bring a flyer for Butte Humane Society to get a donated portion of your purchase. Simply dine during the Supper Club hours to show your support for the animals!

To see the full Supper Club calendar and view participating restaurants, please visit buttehumane.org/supperclub. Also, to stay in the know about all Butte Humane Society happenings, please like them on Facebook at [tehumane.](http://facebook.com/but-

Reader Advisory: In order to avoid misunderstandings, some advertisers do not offer "employment" but rather supply the readers with manuals, directories and other materials designed to help their clients establish mail order selling and other businesses at home. Under NO circumstance should you send any money in advance or give the client your checking, license ID, or credit card numbers. Also beware of ads that claim to guarantee loans regardless of credit and note that if a credit repair company does business only over the phone it's illegal to request any money before delivering its service. Impressions of Dubai, Part 4

by Dianne Wilkinson

Touring and sightseeing. We took a two-day hop-on/hop-off bus tour of Dubai. It was well worth the price, is highly recommended, and recorded commentary is available in 10 languages. The tour has 19 stops, and places of interest included the aforementioned Sheikh Saeed Al Maktoum House, Dubai Museum, several souks (market places such as the Old Souk, Gold Souk, and Spice Souk), malls, Burj Khalifa, Dubai Creek, etc. The dhow cruise on the Dubai Creek was a calm change of pace. The creek separates old Dubai (Deira) from new Dubai (Bur Dubai).

We also took a one-day tour to Abu Dhabi. The differences between the two cities were clear: while there is one major area of high-rises, Abu Dhabi is more spread out and the coastline appears to be visible from all points. Dubai, on the other hand, is built up, in the sense that there are pockets of highrises every few miles, and the coastline has some development almost to the water's edge. Abu Dhabi is playing "catch up" with Dubai, and building and road construction in both cities is going on at a frantic pace.

In Abu Dhabi, we saw a member of the royal family driving around in what looked like a custom-made Rolls Royce roadster, and it was painted royal blue and gold. We supposed the gold was real! Our guide told us that he sees this particular person almost every time he takes a tour to Abu Dhabi, and that he is in a different car each time, as he has over 300 automobiles.

Part of the Abu Dhabi tour included a visit to Heritage Village, Emirates Palace Hotel, and Ferrari World, which is a huge, Ferrari-based amusement park, the only one in the world, and it is located next to the Formula One Grand Prix racing circuit. Also included was drive-by viewing (no photography allowed!) of government buildings and the homes where the royal family lives, and Sheikh Zayed Grand Mosque. Non-Muslim female visitors to the mosque were required to wear an abaya. I couldn't wait to take the abaya off after the tour – it was very restrictive, being deliberately snug around the wrists and face.

Growth and technology. When Dubai's emir announced that any company in the world could build anything in Dubai and have tax-free status, the world rushed in. Metro station names give a clue as to what is happening in this metropolis: Business Bay, Financial Center, Dubai Internet City, First Gulf Bank, World Trade Centre, Dubai Airport Free Zone, etc.

The Souks. Souks are the old traditional market places. We were anxious to see the Old Souk, located near the Dubai Creek and in the heart of the old downtown. It turned out to be more Indian than Arabic, and the sellers were quite aggressive. The Gold Souk had gold (and silver and diamonds) everywhere, for blocks and blocks, but not being interested in purchasing any high-ticket items, we just enjoyed the unique atmosphere and people-watching. (I bought a pashmina at the Gold Souk, not being able to strike a deal at the Old Souk. Sort of an irony in that!) Our favorite souk was the re-created Souk Madinat Jumeirah. It is new construction built to look like an old souk, and was dripping with atmosphere. However, the prices were double or triple there, so we ended up simply enjoying an Arabian meal with our friend Lewis, overlooking a small lake with the Burj al Arab in the background. The setting was indescribably beautiful.

Would we go back to Dubai? In a heartbeat! Dubai is campaigning to be the site of the 2020 World's Fair. If it is chosen, it will expose even more people to this fascinating, safe, and Western-friendly place in the Middle East. Dubai is without doubt a first-world emirate, and was a pleasure and delight to experience.

Words and Birds

An exhibit to delight all who love Chico, birds, books, art and kids opens at Avenue 9 Gallery with a reception on Friday, November 1 (5-8). "Words and Birds" features Candy Matthews, a watercolor artist, and writer Naty Osa together with her son Javier Dura, an illustrator.

Matthews says: "I am a homebody and take great pleasure in observing and painting the bird visitors to our backyard garden—robins, finches, sparrows, and even an owl."

Naty Osa writes children's books through collaboration with her illustrator son Javier Dura who lives in Seville, Spain. On display will be Dura's original paintings for Osa's book "The Last Orchard." Set in a town reminiscent of Chico, it spins a tale about two boys who team up with a flock of snow geese to rescue a threatened orchard.

Avenue 9 Gallery is at 180 E. 9th Avenue. Reg. hrs. W –Sat. noon-5pm, 180 E. 9th Avenue, www.avenue9gallery.com 879-1821

Spotlight

November is the unofficial start to the holiday season. A time for giving thanks and appreciating what is good in life. The chance to sit around the dinner table at Thanksgiving and, while enjoying the many tasty treats of the season, to take a second and remember the blessings of life and to appreciate what we have, when so many others have a lot less. To start off this sense of showing appreciation, it is also necessary to mention another holiday that takes place in the month of November. That is the day to look around and acknowledge those members of the military that have taken the risk and offered their services toward a cause bigger than themselves. These men and women have made the ultimate choice to serve, either in the past or present and for that, such an act would work toward the safety and security of the greater world community. Many of these men and women live within the local communities of Butte County, and on November 11th, these men and women receive recognition for their sacrifices, either in the past or at the present time.

In doing a search through Google for the term 'Veterans Day', an interesting article popped up, written by Valerie Strauss and published earlier this year by The Washington Post (1996-2013). In it, she seeks to distinguish the difference between this holiday and Memorial Day. Two days set aside for honoring veterans, with Memorial Day taking special significance to honors those veterans that have perished while Veterans Day is a time to honor those that are still living. The article can be found at <http://www.washingtonpost.com/blogs/answer-sheet/wp/2013/05/26/why-memorial-day-is-confused-with-veterans-day/>. An interesting article that only takes a second to read but one that is very significant, as it seeks to underline the importance of both holidays as they seek to honor a segment of the global community that works toward the safety and security of the larger segment of the general populous, regardless of whatever may transpire.

As the weather begins to get cooler, everyone at one point or another begins to take into consideration what these cooler temperatures will do to their electric bills. The Butte County Economic Development Corporation and the Oroville Area Chamber of Commerce will be coming together to have a meeting that will include representation from Pacific Gas & Electric, for the purpose of discussing the new techniques that are present for those companies deemed qualified to find the methods available to help reduce the cost of their bills. The meeting will take place November 4, 2013 at 1735 Montgomery Street, Oroville, Ca 95965 in the City Council Chambers from 4-5:30pm. For more information, the Butte County EDC can be reached at 530-895-2728 and the Oroville Area Chamber of Commerce can be reached at 530-538-2542. The URL for more information about this meeting is the following: <http://www.cityoforoville.org/index.aspx?page=18&recordid=1247>. Another beneficial URL to have for this and other events that are taking place through the Oroville Area Chamber of Commerce is http://oroville.chamber-of-commerce.me/members/calendar6.php?org_id=ORCC&td=1384923600. While looking at the additional information about this meeting, it also gives the opportunity to look at the other events that are taking place in the month of November that are in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce.
